Chinook and Coho had been working on the rope for about 30 minutes when they shouted, "_____ finally finished it, Piggy."

"_____ done a fine job!" remarked Piggy. "It looks like it will hold up."

Piggy took the rope from Chinook and Coho and carefully threw it over the log. She gently pulled and tugged until she felt the rope catch on the bark.

"O.K." she said proudly. "It _____ hold an elephant but it should hold us. Who wants to go first?"

"I do." yelled Chinook

"No! I do." screamed Coho

"It _____ matter who goes first or second, but let's get going!" said Piggy sternly.

They all made it over the log without any problems.

"That _____ so bad. _____ been in worst situations before." admitted Coho

The three friends continued along the path towards their home. They still had some daisies left.
